

CCEA MOBA Press Release – Prague, 21. 4. 2017

Open Call: NEXT LEVEL University Hospital Hradec Králové

The architectural and urban design competition for the modernization of the Surgical Centre of the University Hospital Králové is now open!

Website: nextlevelfnhk.cz

The Surgical Centre will be composed of a new building (addition) and the reconstructed (now technologically outdated) older surgical pavilion. These two structures will be connected into a viable whole.

The winning design should meet all the functional needs of the hospital's surgery departments and form the best possible working environment for medical staff, as well as a safe and pleasant setting for patients.

- University Hospital Hradec Králové is one of the largest medical facilities in the Czech Republic
- Modernization of the Surgical Centre is a project approved by the Czech government as a strategic area of health care
- When finished, the Surgical Centre will be (with 21 operating theatres including all the services) one of the best European medical facilities of its kind

All the competition documentation is in Czech and English and the teams can submit their proposals in both languages.

The competition has two rounds:

1. Round 1: Anonymous open call – submission: 4 posters and portfolio in printed form - deadline: 7 July 2017; 6 best designs will go to the Round 2
2. Round 2: Anonymous – submission: 6 posters and portfolio in printed form, model - deadline: 20 October 2017; 3 prizes and sketching fee for non-awarded teams
